

A.C. Frieden Meets Fellow Authors at the 2014 Printers Row Lit Fest

CHICAGO, Illinois, USA (June 7, 2014) – Novelist A.C. Frieden’s publishers participated in this year’s Printers Row Lit Fest, Chicago’s largest annual book fair, by creating a unique exhibit for his thrillers, including a display of Cold War artifacts. The exhibit focused on Frieden’s Jonathan Brooks spy thriller series, including the forthcoming third installment in the series, The Pyongyang Option, due out in early spring 2015. During the event, a number of fellow authors and friends in the literary industry stopped by his exhibitor tent. “Printers Row is a great place to connect with authors and readers,” Frieden said. “So, I was delighted to see some familiar faces, like authors Sam Reaves, Laura Caldwell and other friends.”

The Printers Row Lit Fest was founded in 1985 by the Near South Planning Board to bring visitors to the Printers Row neighborhood, which once served as Chicago’s book printing hub. The Chicago Tribune purchased the Printers Row Book Fair in 2002 and recently renamed it the Printer’s Row Lit Fest. Today it is the largest free outdoor book fair in the Midwest and is an encouraging sign that books are still an important part of our modern society. This year over 125,000 people attended the book fair on June 7 and 8.
